Welcome to a special edition of Art Fair Calendar's monthly bulletin of art fairs, this time for December 2021. Scroll down for links to four unique virtual events across the country.

Live events are happening again, but you can find some of the best art in the country at these virtual shows. By clicking the links below, you can view wonderful one-of-a-kind work without leaving your home.

Artists and art events rely on your patronage for their livelihood. We invite you to visit some festivals you've never been able to attend by clicking into these online festivals. You'll be thrilled with what you find, AND love the instant gratification that allows you to shop right now.

Get vaccinated, wear a mask, wash your hands, and we'll see you on the other side of this pandemic at an art fair!

New: Promote your Virtual Art Show in these Newsletters

Is your show going "virtual," too? Let us help you promote it - and we'll do it FREE.

Virtual events are not what any of us wanted, but ArtFairCalendar.com is still here to help support you, your artists, and the art fair industry. We are stepping up to help you introduce your online events to art fair patrons nationwide with the new "virtual shows" newsletter!

Would you like your show included in our next "Virtual Art Fairs" newsletter? We'll be sending it to 55,000+ Art Fair Calendar art-collecting subscribers, nationwide.

Here are 3 ways you can get your event included:

1. Promoting your event is FREE if your show advertised with us in 2019 or 2020.
2. Link back to CallsforArtists.com. We'll also give your show a FREE listing if you can link your website back to us following these easy instructions: <https://www.callsforartists.com/call-for-artists-links>.
3. Non-advertisers/non-linkers pay just $60. (A great deal, given the targeted, nationwide reach of our audience.)
