Artexpo New York returns this spring to Pier 36 in Manhattan for four days of contemporary art from galleries across the world. More than 200 galleries, dealers and artists will showcase their wares across a massive 70,000 square-foot convention space, offering original paintings, drawings, sculptures, photography, ceramics, giclee, lithographs and glass works, among other contemporary and fine art.

"As we return to Pier 36 for the 49th edition of Artexpo New York, we're proud of the fair's global reach and continued evolution," says Eric Smith, president and CEO of Redwood Art Group, which organizes the fair. "With participation from artists and galleries representing more than 20 countries, Artexpo remains a platform for discovery, innovation, and forward-thinking programming that helps define what's next in the art world."

Exhibitors based in the United States at this year's fair include K-Art Projects, Liz Wood Art Selection and Famespace in Miami, Florida; AGI Fine Art and Perseus Gallery in New York City; SAB Art Collection in Los Angeles; ADDO Gallery in Suwanee, Georgia; and Artavita / World Wide Art in Santa Barbara, California, among many others. And for exhibitors unable to participate in person, the fair will also offer a virtual exhibition accessible anywhere online, as well as on monitors throughout the fair.

On top of the opportunity to explore artwork by more than 1,000 professional artists, collectors will also be able to partake in a variety of interactive programming. The 2026 Artexpo New York will include Art Labs, a special program that features uniquely curated site-specific projects by prominent galleries, art institutions and art collectives. There's also the Spotlight

Program, which gives collectors a more focused look at several prominent galleries and artists, each of whom will be creating a site-specific exhibition. In addition, the Discoveries Collection includes selections of artwork specially chosen by the Artexpo New York curatorial team that collectors can search for throughout the fair.

An Opening Night VIP Preview will be held on Thursday, April 9, from 5 to 8 p.m. Artexpo New York then opens to the public on Friday, April 10, and continues through Sunday, April 12, starting at 11 a.m. daily.
